Inspire . Empower . Mobilize

When I saw the Loecken family on Good Morning America, I knew I had to reach out and invite them to ignite our church. Their story was a living example of what I was teaching my congregation.

We invited them to our church for a "Passion to Action" weekend. It was one of the most encouraging and challenging weekends we have had at Discovery Pointe in some time. Their passion, simplicity and authenticity was refreshing and encouraging to me as a pastor.

In the summer of 2007, they went on a life-changing family mission trip to Kenya, Africa. This trip was the catalyst that eventually led them to sell their home, leave a comfortable life and move into an RV to travel the country serving others, helping in soup kitchens, community projects, churches and more. Their passion to help those in need has proven that: God uses ordinary people in extraordinary ways.

They have learned that each and every one of us wants our lives to matter. We all want to find significance and purpose. They encourage people to listen to the still, small voice of God and quiet themselves long enough to discover why He has made them and how He wants to use their life. They know not everyone is called to live in an RV and travel the country, but everyone is called to make a difference.

No doubt you've encouraged your congregation to find and follow their passion. Perhaps the Loecken family could be an inspirational example...the spark that could fuel a fire deep inside your members. Many of the members of our church found it easy to identify with the life the Loecken's left behind. I was able to follow up on the momentum they helped create during their visit.

If you're like me, you receive many requests to speak at your church, so the Loeckens are enclosing some materials to help you get better acquainted with who they are and what they do, including a short, 3-minute video that I encourage you to watch.

Please prayerfully consider having them share their lives with your church. Warning...you and your people may never be the same.
